

Problems on the park

Sorting out problems, large or small, goes with your job as park operators. Sometimes there is a legal angle. Sometimes, you just need to talk the problem through with an independent and trusted adviser who understands park businesses.

Led by Paul Kelly and Melanie Burton, the dispute resolution specialists in the Tozers parks team work in partnership with busy park operators. We give prompt, practical advice to minimise the disruption that unresolved problems may cause even the best business:

- Sales going wrong
- Disputes about payments, including pitch fee reviews
- Agreement breaches
- Complaints about the park, or amongst the park community
- Antisocial behaviour
- Disagreements with other businesses, such as suppliers and neighbours
- Regulatory concerns, such as questions from Trading Standards

We offer flexible pricing options, including fixed fees for some work and our Parklaw annual fixed fee service for regular users.
